SAILORS & SOLDIERS
ROLL OF HONOUR.

FOR KING & COUNTRY.

THESE MEN who serve, Sailors and Soldiers brave,
Who nobly risk their lives to save
The honour of their Country and win Peace,
To them our gratitude must never cease.

The grandest thing that ever Leek possessed,
The names of those, her bravest and her best,
In this our "Roll of Honour" we hand down
To be the glory of our Moorland Town.

And those dear lads who will not come again,
Who nobly fighting—fell among the slain,
O'er whose loved names fall many a silent tear,
With reverence and with pride we place them here.

HARIETTE SMITH, LEEK

ROLL OF HONOUR

COMPILED BY THE LEEK
SAILORS' & SOLDIERS'
COMFORTS SOCIETY

— NOVEMBER —

1 9 1 5

¶ THIS LITTLE BOOK—a record of the 1550 Sailors and Soldiers from Leek and District who are so bravely serving their King and Country—has been compiled as a slight recognition of their services with the hope that it will prove interesting, and a lasting Memento, not only to their relations—but to the district generally. . . Although every care has been taken to make the Roll as complete and accurate as possible, it is feared that a few omissions and mistakes may have occurred. Space has been left for additions and corrections.

For King and Country!

WE must fight for our King and country,
For the cause that is right and true,
We are ready to-day
Duty's call to obey,
'Neath the flag of the red, white, and blue.
In defence of our dear old Homeland,
For the honour of Britain's name,
We will vanquish the foe,
All the world to show
Britain's foes shall be put to shame.

See they come from the far dominions,
At the sound of the battle cry,
From Australia's shore
Ever more and more
Britain's valiant sons draw nigh.
From New Zealand we hear the echo,
"We are coming to your aid!"
While Canadians call,
"We will stand or fall
For our Empire unafraid!"

In the fight for our King and country,
Let the sound of alarm out-ring;
From the ends of the earth
There will be no dearth
Of response to the call of our King.
As we fight for King and country,
As our soldier all danger braves,
We will show to the world,
'Neath our flag unfurled,
Britons never, never shall be slaves.

The Men in the Ships.

HERE'S a health to our men on the seas,
Who have kept our flag high in the breeze,
And have fought a fair fight
Against cunning and spite
With the treacherous foemen who came in the night,
But fled when our cannon roar'd forth in their might—
Here's a health to our men on the seas.

In the old days our enemies fought
Eye to eye, hand to hand, in clean sport ;
And we held them in grip
Man to man, ship to ship,
With a clear-thinking mind and a hard-fighting lip,
Till foeman and friend took their long, farewell trip—
We met and we fought—in clean sport.

But now when the grim submarine
Like a snake thro' the sea glides unseen,
And with murderous eye
Scans the waves far and nigh,
And assassin-like strikes, leaving brave men to die—
Now three-fold are the snares and the perils which lie
In the shadowy waters, unseen.

But the hearts of our men are like gold,
As they weather the storm and the cold ;
And they challenge their fate
Without fear, without hate—
In the blast that sweeps down thro' the North's icy gate
They keep their long vigil, in silence they wait—
Their hearts are like well-tested gold.

To the Lads !

O SONS of Britain ! valiant, true,
 Who nobly serve at duty's call !
 A Nation's heart goes out to you,
 A people's pray'rs ascend for all.

O mothers' sons with hearts so brave !
 Alert and keen to play a part,
 And take your place on field or wave !
 For you with pride beats Empire's heart.

To you engaged in struggle dire,
 So long drawn out in trenches drear,
 Lit up by warfare's raging fire,
 While ghastly death is ever near !

To you on gory battlefields,
 'Mid cannon's roar and bursting shell !
 Where death his sharp-set sickle wields
 And plenteous harvest reaps too well !

To you who serve with watchful fleet,
 On treach'rous seas your vigils keep,
 All eager there the foe to meet,
 And then "to action" swiftly leap !

Into your hands doth Britain yield
 Her rightful cause, her Empire's fate !
 And countless hearts for you a shield
 By yearning pray'r would fain create.

To you who at the base await
 The word to move on battle line,
 Or serve right well at Empire's gate
 As Duty's call doth there assign !

To you at home who guard our shore,
 Or now in camp, on training ground,
 With keenest zest prepare for war,
 And soon efficient will be found !

To one and all, so valiant, true,
 Who nobly serve at Duty's call,
 A Nation's heart goes out to you,
 A people's pray'rs ascend for all !

A Lark in the Sky.

(The other day, above the fighting in the trenches,
a lark's song was distinctly heard).

IN the mire of the Valley of Shadow,
The shadow of pain,
We stood in the wearisome trenches,
The terrible trenches,
In battle's red rain.

The heavens were watchful above us ;
Within us was gloom,
For the rifles rasped hideous laughter,
Hell's horrible laughter,
The laughter of doom.

But sudden our hearts leapt within us,
And woke with a cry ;
For a marvel dropt down from the cloudland,
Like a star from the cloudland—
'Twas a lark in the sky.

Our souls sought the hills and the meadows
Afar o'er the foam ;
As through mist we beheld the long ridges,
The green and grey ridges,
The dear fields of home.

And we babbled old words in our longing,
And our lips tried to pray—
"O God bring us safe to the homeland,
To the hearts in the homeland
We love far away."

And we saw as in dream, the dear faces,
As in moments gone by ;
Then we turned us again to our vigil,
Made strong for our vigil
By that lark in the sky !

Unmentioned in Despatches.

WE love to sing our heroes, in martial days like these,
The lads whose daring deeds are signified
By eulogies and medals, promotions and V.C.'s,
We talk about their gallantry with pride.

But for every one we hear of, there are hundreds left unsung,
Whose hardihood the highest valour matches,
For whom no bands are played, no village bells are rung,
The heroes who're unmentioned in despatches.

When poisoned fumes are rolling, when maxim fire is brisk,
When teeth are clenched and faces streaked with grime,
When the black unsparing moment brings its sudden deadly risk
There's a mother's son to do it every time!

A wounded pal to rescue—a vantage to be won
That will further the undoing of the Kaiser—
The ruthless task is tackled, the job is gripped and done,
And nobody's a little bit the wiser.

There's a crop of British valour on the blood-stained battlefield
Made fertile by a steady rain of shells,
There's many a gallant exploit that will never be revealed,
In Flanders and the distant Dardanelles.

When you read about the fighting, grim & fierce, in foreign parts,
When a sympathetic gasp your breathing catches,
Don't forget to keep a corner, swept and garnished, in your hearts,
For the heroes who're unmentioned in despatches.

Jessie Pope.

In Memoriam.

HONOUR to those who bravely fought
For home and freedom, and whose valour brought

Their names upon the flag of liberty,
And grateful hearts in deathless memories.

Peace to the dead ! The noblest gift they gave,
And though no stately temple marks their grave,
The world's new birth their sacrifice shall yield,
Whose altar is the crimson battlefield.

And you, who now hold back the battle-tide,
And scorn the tyrant's chain and boastful pride,
A noble charge is yours—your country's fame,
Old England's freedom and unblemish'd name.

The world shall smile again, fond peace return,
And on her altar stones sweet incense burn
To noble deeds and brave unselfish lives,
To Moorland homes, to children, parents, wives.

*Elijah Cope
Leek.*

Specially Written for the Roll of Honour

Lieutenant Basil Lee Nicholson.

The Response.

WHO bids thee forth, O man, in arms,
and khaki-clad?
My country calls, and I to answer
her am glad.

Why then so set and stern thy face, so grave
thy mien?

There is a wrong to right whose like was never seen.

And yet—I listen, and I hear thy voice in song!

The victory is sure, although the way be long.

How namest thou the foe whom thou art
called to fight?

Mine enemy—the world's—the foe whose name is Might.

And goest thou alone to face this fearful foe?

Nay; hark the tramp of hosts!—tho' were
it so, I'd go?

What is the strength thou hast to aid thee
in the fray?

God and the Right, mine arm, and England's prayers to-day.

Yet wherefore leave thy peaceful home—perchance to—? Fie!

Would'st have me live ashamed? I am no coward, I!

And what of those at home now of their man bereft?

They bravely bade me go! To God and you they're left!

*Annie L. Get,
Leek.*

IN the time of War, O Father,
We would seek Thy guiding care :
Grant us all Thy good protection,
Let us all Thy mercy share.

Look upon our loved ones Father,
May their hearts still trusting yearn,
Eagerly expectant, patient—
For the absent one's return.

Guard. O guard those absent members
Fighting for their land and home :
Guard and guide, protect and save them,
As in dangerous paths they roam.

If it be Thy Will, O Father,
Some of them may not return,
Comfort parents in their sorrow,
Give them Grace Thy Will to learn,

If again a grand reunion
Thou art pleased to grant to some,
May their earthly ties be richer,
In the future days to come.

May the joys of that re-union
Strengthen loftier ties with Thee :
Fuller service, high devotion,
To Thy great cause may we see.

When this earthly strife is ended,
And the din of battles o'er,
Give to victor and to vanquished
Truer peace than known before.

Then when comes Thy final rally
May we all with one accord,
Ready, worthy, at Thy bidding,
Reign with Thee, our Sovereign Lord.

Pro Patria.

ENGLAND, in this great fight to which you go
Because, where honour calls you, go you must,

Be glad, whatever comes, at least to know
You have your quarrel just.

Peace was your care; before the nations' bar
Her cause you pleaded and her ends you sought;
But not for her sake, being what you are,
Could you be bribed and bought

Others may spurn the pledge of land to land,
May with the brute sword stain a gallant past;
But by the seal to which you set your hand,
Thank God, you still stand fast!

Forth, then, to front that peril of the deep
With smiling lips and in your eyes the light,
Steadfast and confident, of those who keep
Their storied scutcheon bright.

And we, whose burden is to watch and wait—
High-hearted ever, strong in faith and prayer,
We ask what offering we may consecrate,
What humble service share,

To steel our souls against the lust of ease;
To find our welfare in the common good;
To hold together, merging all degrees
In one wide brotherhood;—

To teach that he who saves himself is lost;
To bear in silence though our hearts may bleed;
To spend ourselves, and never count the cost,
For others' greater need;—

To go our quiet ways, subdued and sane;
To hush all vulgar clamour of the street;
With level calm to face alike the strain
Of triumph or defeat;—

This be our part, for so we serve you best,
So best confirm their prowess and their pride,
Your warrior sons, to whom in this high test
Our fortunes we confide.

Owen Seaman.

England.

THIS royal throne of Kings, this sceptr'd isle,
This earth of majesty, this seat of Mars,
This other Eden, demi-Paradise,
This fortress, built by Nature for herself,
Against infection, and the hand of war ;
This happy breed of men, this little world,
This precious stone, set in the silver sea,
Which serves it in the office of a wall,
This blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England,
This nurse, this teeming womb of royal kings ;
England, bound in with the triumphant sea,

Shakespeare.

Where's the coward
that would not dare to fight for such a land ?

Scott.

WE stand with sword in hand,
Sons of the Motherland,
Her cause our own ;
Britain's great loving heart,
Calls us from every part,
Far o'er the world's great mart,
To guard her throne.

Honour and Faith and Light,
For these great Truths we fight,
Our cause is just.
May we have strength to dare,
Courage to smile and bear,
God hear the Empire's prayer,
In Thee we trust.

A. Violet Gandy.

The Defence of Lucknow.

PRAISE to our Indian brothers, and let the dark face have his due !
Thanks to the kindly dark faces who fought with us, faithful and few,
Fought with the bravest among us, and drove them, and smote them, and slew,
That ever upon the topmost roof our banner
in India blew.

Tennyson.

The Arsenal at Springfield.

THE tumult of each sacked and burning village ;
The shout that every prayer from mercy drowns ;
The soldier's revels in the midst of pillage ;
The wail of famine in beleaguered towns ;

The bursting shell, the gateway wrenched asunder,
The rattling musketry, the clashing blade ;
And ever and anon, in tones of thunder,
The diapason of the cannonade.

Down the dark future, through long generations,
The echoing sounds grow fainter, and then cease ;
And like a bell, with solemn, sweet vibrations,
I hear once more the voice of Christ say, " Peace ! "

Peace ! and no longer from its brazen portals
The blast of War's great organ shakes the skies !
But beautiful as songs of the immortals.
The holy melodies of love arise.

Longfellow.

Lays of Ancient Rome.

THEN out spake brave Horatius,
The Captain of the Gate,
'To every man upon this earth
Death cometh soon or late.
And how can man die better
Than facing fearful odds,
For the ashes of his fathers,
And the temples of his Gods.

And for the tender mother
Who dandled him to rest,
And for the wife who nurses
His baby at her breast,
And for the holy maidens
Who feed the eternal flame,
To save them from false Sextus
That wrought the deed of shame?

The Soldier's Wife.

“ I DIDN'T cry w'en 'e went
To join 'is companee—
A woman must keep a stiff upper lip
W'en she's got a family !
But the children and I, we smiled and waved—
I couldn't do no more ;
And that's the last 'e saw of us
W'en 'e went off to war.

I didn't cry w'en 'e'd gone,
Though the place fair put me out
Without the noise of 'is heavy boots
And no smell of shag about ;
The children and I, we smiled—although
Each laugh stuck in me chest,
And we said as 'ow Dad was comin' back
With medals along 'is breast.

I'm not a-cryin' now,
Though you think I'd ought, maybe
To 'ear that 'e's wounded and dead out there
And won't never come back to me.
No, the children and I, we'll smile that proud,
And I'll learn 'em that though they've 'ad
An ord'nary sort of mother like me
They'd a 'ero for their Dad ! ”

The Silent Army.

THE awful roar of the guns is still ;
The stars are out in the quiet sky ;
A sobbing breeze blows o'er yonder hill,
While low in the trenches men, sleeping, lie.
'Tis the shrouded hour 'twixt dawn and dark,
When the soul's freed senses see and hark !

What shadowy forms are those that rise
From end to end of the "long, thin line,"
And gaze with satisfied spirit eyes
At the living sleepers, but make no sign ?
Listen ! The wind on its westward way Carries a word from the watching "They" !

"Brothers and comrades, leal, strong, and true,
Filling the places we died to win,
We, pioneers, blazed the track for you,
Learning the lesson of 'digging in' !
We are the bridges by which you cross
Experience-stream with lessened loss.

"Brothers, press forward, we march with you ;
The Silent Army, an unguessed throng !
With ever the one great aim in view
For God and Country—to right the wrong—
Certain your guerdon and ours shall be
The choicest fruitage of Victory's tree !"

The whisper dies as the dawn-flush grows ;
The soft grey mist holds the secret strange,
The fighters start from their short repose—
The enemy's gun-fire finds the range,
Through the crashing storms of shot and shell
The Silent Army makes Heaven of Hell !

Night at Ruhleben.

The following poem was written by Mr. Francis Gribble, the well-known author, while he was interned at Ruhleben Camp, in Germany :—

THE slow hours creep and creep
Till night the day redeems.
Thank God, Who gives us sleep !
Thank God, Who sends us dreams !

By day barbarian powers
May herd us in their pen ;
The night—the night is ours ;
They cannot hold us then.

Six prisoners in one stall,
O'er each his blanket spread !
And no man there at all !
Each on the errand sped !

The gates are open wide—
Those gates they guard by day ;
Through those broad gates we ride,
Away, away, away !

Each takes a lonely track,
For each must travel far,
And knows he must be back
Before the morning star.

None brings a traveller's tale,
For each has been to seek
Some life behind the veil
Of which he does not speak.

All went, and none was missed ;
All journeyed while they slept ;
For each man had a tryst,
And each his tryst has kept,

And each, last night, drank deep
From life's restoring streams,
Thank God, Who gives us sleep !
Thank God, Who sends us dreams !

Francis Gribble.

A Hymn of Prayer in War-Time.

From the French of Marguerite Coppin,
Poet Laureate of Belgium.

O GOD of weeping wives and mothers,
Great Father of the fatherless,
Help us to pity foes with brothers,
With sad defeat the sad success !
Fill up for us our empty places :
Show there, to light our darkened eyes,
Our holy Dead, with shining faces
Haloed and crowned with sacrifice.

And when we tell the victor's story,
O, Living God on whom we call,
Give us, lest aught should dim its glory,
The Love triumphant over all !
To fallen foes true hands of healing
Hold we, still humble in our pride :
So none, above our heroes kneeling,
Shall shame the land for which they died.

The Farmer's Boy.

A SIDELIGHT ON THE WAR.

A 'M twelve years and three-quarters,
And feyther's at the War,
He's off across the channel,
A many miles and more,
And I've a team of horses,
A'm driving them all day,
For I've growed up to be a man
Since feyther went away.

A'm twelve years and three-quarters,
Ma mither's crying crool
The while her works, becos her says
I'd ought to be at school :
'Twas farmer arst her, so o' course
There weren't no other way :
That's how I growed to be a man
Since feyther went away.

A'm twelve years and three-quarters,
The farmer smiles at me,
And "What's the use of schooling, lad?
You're better here," says he.
But when my feyther's home from war
I'm wond'ring what he'll say.
Will he be glad I grew a man
When he was far away ?

Ethel Talbot.

On ! on to Victory !

On ! on to victory !

For love of the nations, not for hate ;
For ease of the stricken hearts that wait ;
For the stemming of blood in its 'whelming tide ;
For the staunching of wounds in the war-fields wide ;
For the purging of rancour and jealous fear ;
For a world-wide hope and a vision clear ;
For the building up of each desolate place ;
For the sweet rebirth of each homely grace ;
For the young of to-day, for the babes unborn ;
For the solace of all who are aged and worn ;
For the Christlike spirit, the outstretched hand ;
For the tightening of bond between land and land ;
For a larger dream : for a greater thought ;
For a wider peace than has yet been sought ;
Aye, all for these, and that brighter dawn,
When the evil spirit of war has gone—

To victory, on !

Brenda Murray Draper.
